

SUMMARY: The document below is the Prerogative Court of Canterbury copy of the last will and testament, dated 30 April 1541 and proved 14 January 1542, of Elizabeth (nee Chedworth) Blake Audley, whose niece, Margery (nee Kelly) Carew Tyrrell, was the mother of Charles Tyrrell (d.1570), second husband of Oxford's mother, Margery Golding (d.1568). See the bequests to the testatrix' niece, Margery (nee Kelly) Tyrrell (living 1551) and her children by her two husbands, John Carew (d. 1 March 1524) of Bury St Edmunds and James Tyrrell (1475?-1538) of Columbine Hall:

Item, to my niece Tyrrell one of the chests in the parlour, and a quilt covering of green satin;

Also I give to John Carew £13 6s 8d; to Margaret Carew 21s 2d; to Anne Broke 21s 2d; to James Tyrrell ten shillings 7d; to Margery Tyrrell 10s 7d; to Charles Tyrrell 10s 7d; to Philip Tyrrell 10 7d.

FAMILY BACKGROUND

Testatrix' parents

The testatrix was the daughter of William Chedworth of Stepney, Clerk to the Common Council of London, and the niece of William Chedworth's brother, John Chedworth (d.1471), Bishop of Lincoln.

Testatrix' siblings

The testatrix had two brothers and three sisters:

-John Chedworth (d.1471), Archdeacon of Lincoln. See his will, TNA PROB 11/6/44, and Parks, George B., The English Traveller to Italy, (Rome: Edizioni di Storia e Letteratura, 1954), p. 436 at:

https://books.google.ca/books?id=h64LEYa\_cVAC&pg=PA436

The student [at Padua] was John Chedworth, archdeacon of Lincoln, who was elected rector of the law university in 1467, and took his doctorate in civil law in 1468. The ceremony of his inauguration as rector took on unusual splendor in that it became the subject of two commemorative Latin poems. We do not know why. The brother of one of the two poets, Lodovico Lazarelli, suggested later that the rector was "wealthy, sumptuous, and generous", and indeed it is apparent from the poems that he provided prizes for the tourney; moreover, Lazarelli dedicated his poem to the Englishman. Chedworth could well have been wealthy, or relatively so; he had been an archdeacon since 1457, and was a prebendary of both Lincoln and York; moreover, a man of the same name, perhaps an uncle, was bishop of Lincoln. The other poet dedicated his poem to a relative of the winner of the tourney, of a noble Venetian family and we may suspect a Venetian rather than an English purse as the object of his dedication. If the two poets were in competition, we cannot tell. At least the second poet had his poem printed, while the first apparently failed to do so.

-Nicholas Chedworth (d.1501), esquire, of Hackney, who married a wife named Margaret, who after his death married George Conghurst. For the will of Nicholas Chedworth, see TNA PROB 11/12/273.

-Anne Chedworth (d.1486), for whose will see TNA PROB 11/8/46. She married firstly Sir John Crosby (d.1476), for whom see his will, TNA PROB 11/6/327, and the Wikipedia article created by the author of this website:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/John\_Crosby\_\(died\_1476\))

By Sir John Crosby, Anne Chedworth had a son, John Crosby (d.1501), gentleman, for whose will see TNA PROB 11/12/372.

Anne Chedworth married secondly John Roger (d.1485) of Freefolk, Hampshire, for whose will see TNA PROB 11/7/320. By John Roger, Anne Chedworth had a daughter, Elizabeth Roger (born c.1479), who married Richard Andrews, son of Richard Andrews and Lucy Bray, sister of Sir Reginald Bray (for whose will see TNA PROB 11/13/608).

-Margaret Chedworth (d. 2 July 1525). As indicated in the Chancery suits below, she married Sir William Carew (d.1501), for whose will see TNA PROB 11/12/390. For the date of Margaret Chedworth's death, see Gage, John, The History and Antiquities of Suffolk, Thingoe Hundred, (London: Samuel Bentley, 1838), pp. 286 at:

For Margaret (nee Chedworth) Carew, see also the entry at:

-Joan Chedworth (d.1507?). As indicated in the Chancery suits below, she married firstly William Marowe (d.1499?), esquire, for whose will, proved 17 June 1504, see Sharpe, Reginald R., Calendar of Wills Proved and Enrolled in the Court of Husting, London, A.D. 1258 – A.D. 1688, (London: John C. Francis, 1890), p. 606 at:

<http://books.google.ca/books?id=ek4MAQAAMAAJ&pg=PA606&lpg=PA606>

By William Marowe (d.1499?), Joan Chedworth was the mother of Thomas Marowe (d.1538), esquire. See the will of Joan Chedworth's father-in-law, William Marowe (c1419-c.1464), TNA PROB 11/5/139, and the will of Joan Chedworth's brother-in-law, Thomas Marowe (d.1505), serjeant at law, TNA PROB 11/14/514. After the death of William Marowe, Joan Chedworth married secondly William Fermour (d.1552). For William Fermour, see the History of Parliament entry at:

<https://www.historyofparliamentonline.org/volume/1509-1558/member/fermor-william-1480-1552>

The testatrix leaves a bequest of gilt spoons to Thomas Marowe and Edward Marowe, who appear to be the grandsons of her sister, Joan (nee Chedworth) Marowe. For the Marowe family see:

'Galley Quay', Survey of London: volume 15: All Hallows, Barking-by-the-Tower, pt II (1934), pp. 44-49. URL: <http://www.british-history.ac.uk/report.aspx?compid=74968>

A very full and interesting account of the Marowe family at this time is given by Miss B. H. Putnam in her introduction to the important treatise De Pace Terre et Ecclesie et Conseruacione Eiusdem (fn. 52) of Thomas Marowe, serjeant-at-law. William Marowe (Mayor, 1455–6) married, as his second wife, Katherine, daughter of Richard Ryche, mercer, and died possessed of much property in 1465. His children were William, who married Joan, daughter of Alderman William Chedworth; Thomas, the lawyer; Johanna, who married William Clopton of Kentwell Hall, Long Melford; Katherine, wife of Sir Robert Throckmorton; and John and Agnes, who died early.

William Marowe, the son, was in possession of the "Great Place and a wharf called Galley Key" and "the Maydenhede" in 1488, (fn. 53) and at his death in 1499 bequeathed them to his wife Joan for life, and left Marowe New Quay to his brother Thomas, the lawyer, (fn. 54) whom he made guardian of his son, also named Thomas. The latter married successively daughters of Baldwin Douse of Balsall and Robert Wigston of Wolston, and died in 1538. In the Inquisitio Post Mortem on the property of the latter, in 1539, his son and heir is named Thomas, (fn. 55) who died in 1561 and left a son Samuel, the progenitor of the Warwickshire Marowes.

Thanks to Karen Sims for the identification of John Chedworth, Archdeacon of Lincoln, and Anne Chedworth as the testatrix' siblings, and for information on the second marriage of Joan Chedworth.

The testatrix' relationship to her brother, Nicholas Chedworth, and sisters, Margaret Chedworth and Joan Chedworth, is established by two Chancery suits, the first dating from the period 1486-1493, the second dating from the period 1518-1529:

MARRIAGES

Testatrix' first marriage

The testatrix married firstly, Thomas Blake (d.1505/6), the son of Edmund Blake and his wife, Elizabeth, and nephew of Simon Blake. See the will of Thomas Blake, TNA PROB 11/15/341, and Blomefield, Francis, An Essay Towards a Topographical History of the County of Norfolk, (London: William Miller, 1807), Vol. VI, p. 202 at:

<https://books.google.ca/books?id=bTAYAQAIAAJ&pg=PA202>

Testatrix' second marriage

The testatrix married secondly, Sir John Audley (d.1530), the son and heir of Sir Humphrey Audley (d.1471), eldest son of Sir James Tuchet (c.1398-1459), 5th Baron Audley, and his second wife, Eleanor Holand, the illegitimate daughter of Edmund Holand, Earl of Kent, by Constance, daughter of Edmund Langley, Duke of York, son of Edward III. For his background see Richardson, Douglas, Magna Carta Ancestry, 2nd ed., 2011, Vol. IV, pp. 218-19; and the pedigree of Audley in Rye, Walter, ed., The Visitation of Norfolk, (London: Harleian Society, 1891), Vol. XXXII, p. 10 at:

Sir John Audley's first marriage

Sir John Audley's first wife, whom he married before 10 February 1489, was Muriel Brewes, the daughter of Sir Thomas Brewes (d. 17 June 1482) of Little Wenham, Suffolk, and his second wife, Elizabeth Debenham (d.1503). Sir John Audley's son and heir by this marriage, Richard Audley, married Katherine Scrope, the sister of Elizabeth (nee Scrope) Beaumont de Vere (d.1537), Countess of Oxford, second wife of John de Vere (1442-1513), 13th Earl of Oxford.

Sir John Audley's will, TNA PROB 11/24/1, indicates that his son and heir, Richard Audley, had predeceased him, leaving a son, John Audley. In 1531 Roger Townshend (d.1551), who had married Amy Brewse, the granddaughter of Sir Thomas Brewes (d. 17 June 1482) by his first wife, Margaret Calthorpe, sold the wardship of John Audley to Elizabeth de Vere (d.1537), Countess of Oxford, for £300, while keeping the wardship of Edmund Audley (d.1585), John's younger brother, for himself. See Moreton, C.E., The Townshends and Their World: Gentry, Law, and Land in Norfolk c. 1450-1551, (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1992), p. 125. Richard Audley's son, John Audley, the Countess of Oxford's ward, appears to have died before the testatrix made her will below, and at the time the testatrix made her will Sir John Audley's grandson, Edmund Audley (d.1585) of Great Palgrave, Norfolk, was his heir.

Edmund Audley (d.1585) married firstly Mary Paris, the daughter of Sir Philip Paris (1492-1558) of Little Linton, Suffolk. See the Paris pedigree in Green, Everard, 'A Pedigree of the Ancient Catholic Family of Parys of Linton in the County of Cambridge' in Clarke, A.W. Hughes, ed., Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica, 5th Series, Vol. II, (London: Mitchell, Hughes and Clarke, 1916-17), p. 124 at:

<https://archive.org/stream/miscellaneagenea2191bann#page/n265/mode/2up>

See also the will, dated 10 January 1558 and proved 20 January 1559, TNA PROB 11/42A/230, of Sir Philip Paris:

Item, I do give and bequeath to my son [=son-in-law] Audley, toward the advancement and setting forth of his two daughters, forty pounds of lawful money in recompense and satisfaction that I have not performed my promise that I made unto him for the marriage of his wife, late deceased, my daughter, in case that my said son Audley be not otherwise recompensed by me in my lifetime according to my said promise made unto him and to my said daughter, his late wife, late deceased.

For Sir Philip Paris, see also the will, TNA PROB 11/27/144, of Elizabeth (nee Scrope) Beaumont de Vere (d.1537), Countess of Oxford, second wife of John de Vere (1442-1513), 13th Earl of Oxford; and 'Sir Philip Paris of Linton (1492-1558)', Linton and District Historical Society at:

<http://archive.is/tPtd>

Edmund Audley (d.1585) married secondly Anne Tyrrell, the daughter of Sir John Tyrrell (d.1541) of Little Warley, Essex, widow successively of Anthony Brydges (d.1551) and John Dethick (d.1559). The Audley pedigree erroneously states that she was the daughter of Sir Thomas Tyrrell of Warley. See Rye, Walter, ed., The Visitation of Norfolk, (London: Harleian Society, 1891), Vol. XXXII, p. 10 at:

<http://www.archive.org/stream/publicationsofha32harluoft#page/10/mode/2up>

See the will of Sir John Tyrrell of Little Warley, TNA PROB 11/28/444; the will of Anthony Brydges, TNA PROB 11/34/171, and the will of John Dethick, TNA PROB 11/42A/268.

It should be noted that the Tyrrell pedigree mentions (perhaps erroneously) an Audley/Tyrrell marriage of an earlier generation. See Metcalfe, Walter C., ed., The Visitations of Essex, Part I, (London: Harleian Society, 1878), Vol. XIII, p. 113 at:

<https://archive.org/stream/visitationsofess13byumetc#page/112/mode/2up>

OTHER PERSONS MENTIONED IN THE WILL

The Audley pedigree in The Visitation of Norfolk also shows that Sir John Audley's daughter, Ellen Audley, married Thomas Dereham of Crimpleham, Norfolk, to both of whom, and their children, the testatrix leaves bequests in the will below. For the Derehams of Crimpleham, see Harper-Bill, Christopher, ed., Medieval East Anglia, (Woodbridge: Boydell Press, 2005), pp. 206-7, available online.

The testatrix leaves a bequest of £5 to 'my niece, Mary Clovell', who would appear to be Mary (nee Carew) Clovell, wife of William Clovell and daughter of Sir William Carew (d.1501) and the testatrix' sister, Margaret (nee Chedworth) Carew. For the Clovell pedigree see Metcalfe, Walter C., ed., The Visitations of Essex, Part I, (London: Harleian Society, 1878), Vol. XIII, p. 37 at:

<http://archive.org/stream/visitationsofess13metc#page/36/mode/2up>

For Leonard Irby (d.1571), husband of another of the testatrix' nieces, see the History of Parliament entry at:

<http://www.historyofparliamentonline.org/volume/1558-1603/member/irby-leonard-1571>

The testatrix' will indicates her friendship with members of the Bedingfield family, to whom she was related through both her husbands. The testatrix appoints Sir Edmund Bedingfield (1479/80-1553) as supervisor of her will (for his own will, see TNA PROB 11/36/267), and bequeath a book to his wife, Grace Bedingfield. The testatrix also leaves bequests to one of their sons, Anthony Bedingfield, and his wife, Elizabeth Danyell, the daughter of Ralph Danyell of Swaffham and Margaret (nee Blake) Danyell, sister of the testatrix' first husband, Thomas Blake (d.1505/6). Sir Edmund Bedingfield and his wife, Grace, were the grandparents of Oxford's friend, Thomas Bedingfield (d.1613), who dedicated his translation of Cardanus' Comfort to Oxford (see STC 4607 on this website). For the will of Thomas Bedingfield (d.1613), see TNA PROB 11/122/124. For Anthony Bedingfield, see also LM/COR 3/711 at:

LM/COR/3/711 - Letter from Anthony Bedingfield, Hale, to Mr William More, Loseley. ... He reports that on Monday 20 Aug the arbitrators awarded the house in Swaffham to Mr Audeley, who was able to prove that the house was sold to his wife when she was the wife of Thomas Blake, and produced a release by Ralph Daniel, Margaret Daniel 'our grandmother' and her sister Joan Branton [=Brampton]. ... 20 marks is to be paid to Bedingfield, More and their wives for making a quitclaim. More's gelding is still not fit enough to bear a saddle, as his neck is not healed. ... If the horse does not heal, Bedingfield will buy it for no more than £10; otherwise he will bring it to London. ... His wife sends a whey of cheese to her sister, half hard and half soft. ... He sends greetings to Mr Cresswell, Mr Johns[on] and the rest of his friends. 26 Aug [20 Aug fell on a Monday in 1565].

Letter from Anthony Bedingfield, Hale, to Mr William More, Loseley. He received More's letters and 'box of writings', and has attempted to follow More's instructions at the Assizes, but the case has gone against them: Harry Hunston produced a fine levied by their father in law Ralph Daniel and others to Thomas Spryng, relating to his lands in Walsoken, 9 Hen VIII, and a recovery of the same year by Ralph and Harry Daniel, Sir John Audeley and Elizabeth his wife (late wife of Thomas Blake), which 'our counsel' believes 'cut clear away our title'. He does not think it worth pursuing the suit further, and encloses the bill of legal expenses. He was so ill at the Assizes he thought he might never see More again, but now trusts in his recovery. He sends greetings to his sister [Margaret More], 'my nephew Polsted and my niece [Elizabeth]. Dated 4 Apr [Elizabeth More married Richard Polsted in Nov 1567].

Another of the testatrix' nieces, Margaret Danyell, to whom she leaves bequests in the will below, later married Sir William More (1520-1600) of Loseley, who owned the property in the Blackfriars on which Oxford and his servant, the playwright John Lyly (1554-1606), held a lease in the mid-1580s and which served as the site of the first Blackfriars theatre. From the ODNB:

Sir William More (1520–1600), landowner and administrator, the only survivor among his father's sons, was born on 30 January 1520. There is no evidence of formal schooling.

Before 12 June 1545 he married Mabel, daughter of Mark Digneley of the Isle of Wight; she had died by 1551, when he married Margaret, daughter of Ralph Daniel of Norfolk; they had a son and two daughters. . . .

For the testatrix' relationship to Ralph and Margaret Danyell, see also Dashwood, G.H., ed., The Visitation of Norfolk in the Year 1563, (Norwich: Miller and Leavins, 1878), Vol. I, p. 131 at:

27 Henry 8, in Pentecost [=1535] The Lady Elizabeth Awdley, widow of Sir John Awdley, surrenders divers lands, inter alia, lands which she had taken up with her husband, 23 Henry 7 [=1507/8], on surrender of Joan Brampton and Margaret Daniel, widows, sisters and coheirs of Thomas Blake, to the use of Ralph Danyell, gentleman.

The testatrix leaves bequests to her niece, Margaret (nee Kelly) Carew Tyrrell, and to Margaret's children by both her husbands. As noted above, one of these children, Charles Tyrrell (d.1570), was Oxford's stepfather. For his will, see TNA PROB 11/52/187.

RM: T{estamentum} Elizabeth{e} Awdley

In the name of God, Amen. The 30th day of the month of April in the year of Our Lord God a thousand five hundred forty and one, I, Dame Elizabeth Audley, widow, late wife of Sir John Audley, knight, deceased, whole of mind and perfect remembrance, thanks to Almighty God, fearing th' unstableness of this present world, make and declare this my testament and last will in manner and form following, that is to say:

First, abolishing and setting at naught all my like wills and testaments heretofore by me made, I commend my soul to Almighty God, my body to be buried in the parish church of Swaffham Market, to whose high altar for my tithes and oblations negligently forgotten I give 20s;

Also I give to the maintenance and reparation of the same church £6 13s 4d;

Also I will that mine executors shall distribute to the households dwelling within the said parish of Swaffham at my burial day 20s;

And I will that my said executors shall do keep for me a solemn dirge and Mass of Requiem at my burial day, my seventh day and my thirty day, and to distribute to such priests and clerks as shall them resort by their discretions;

Also I give to the reparations of the church of Holme Hale ten shillings;
