

SUMMARY: The document below is the Prerogative Court of Canterbury copy of the last will and testament, dated 2 September 1547 and proved 17 April 1548, of Ellis Bodley, parson of St Stephen's, Walbrook, situated next to the London residence of the Earls of Oxford, great-uncle of Sir John Bodley of Streatham, landlord of the Globe playhouse from 1601-1622. For Sir John Bodley's role as landlord of the Globe, see TNA C 54/1682, mm. 10-11.

FAMILY BACKGROUND

For the Bodley pedigree, see Bannerman, W. Bruce, ed., The Visitations of the County of Surrey, (London: Harleian Society, 1899), Vol. XLIII, p. 147 at:

The testator was the son of Richard Bodley (d.1491), grocer of London, and Joan Warde of Hinxworth, whose brother, John Warde, was Lord Mayor of London in 1485. For the will of Richard Bodley, see TNA PROB 11/9/28.

The testator's father, Richard Bodley, was of the same family as the founder of the Bodleian library, and bore the same coat of arms, 'Gules, five martlets argent on a chief indented or three crowns azure'. See the coat of arms in Sutton, Anne F., 'Lady Joan Bradbury (d.1530)', in Barron, Caroline M. and Anne F. Sutton, eds., Medieval London Widows 1300-1500, (London: The Hambledon Press, 1994), pp. 208-38 at p. 208:

The testator had three brothers and three sisters:

-Thomas Bodley (d.1537), vicar of South Weald, Essex, for whose will, see TNA PROB 11/26/118 and TNA PROB 11/27/81.

-William Bodley, for whose will, dated 1 December 1539 and proved 26 November 1540, see TNA PROB 11/28/311. See also TNA PROB 11/48/415, the will of William Bodley's son, Francis Bodley (d.1566) who married Mercy Collett, by whom he was the father of Sir John Bodley of Streatham, landlord of the Globe playhouse.

-John Bodley, who died without issue.

-Emma Bodley (d.1554), who married firstly William(?) Pratt, and secondly Sir Christopher Askew, Lord Mayor of London in 1534/5. For the wills of Sir Christopher Askew and Emma (nee Bodley) Askew, see TNA PROB 11/27/529 and TNA PROB 11/37/124.

-Isabel Bodley, who was the first wife of Sir William Butler, Lord Mayor of London in 1515. See Sutton, supra, p. 234, and the will of Sir William Butler, proved 11 February 1534, TNA PROB 11/25/123. See also the will, TNA PROB 11/48/64, of Edward North (c.1504-1564), 1st Baron North, whose second wife, Margaret Butler (d. 2 June 1575), was the niece of Sir William Butler. See also the will of Margaret Butler, TNA PROB 11/57/602.

-Ellen Bodley, who married firstly William Copland (d.1515), merchant tailor of London and partner of the London merchant and Lord Mayor, Sir Richard Gresham (d.1549). For the will of William Copland, dated 15 August 1517 see TNA PROB 11/19/177. After the death of William Copland, Ellen married secondly William Gresham (d.1548), elder brother of Sir Richard Gresham (see the ODNB entry). See the wills of William Gresham, dated 12 March 1548, TNA PROB 11/32/156, and Ellen Bodley Copland Gresham, dated 6 July 1550, TNA PROB 11/36/194, and Leveson Gower, Granville, Genealogy of the Family of Gresham, (London: Mitchell & Hughes, 1883), pp. 86-8, 150, 161 at:

In her will Ellen Bodley Copland Gresham leaves bequests to two daughters, one married to a husband surnamed Middleton, the other, Alice, married to John Marshe, for whom see the History of Parliament entry at:

<http://www.historyofparliamentonline.org/volume/1509-1558/member/marshe-john-1516-79>

The testator was a first cousin of Dionyse (nee Bodley) Leveson (d.1560), grandmother of William Leveson (d.1621), one of two trustees employed by William Shakespeare of Stratford upon Avon and other members of the Lord Chamberlain's Men in the allocation of shares in the ground lease of the Globe Theatre in 1599. For the will of Dionyse Bodley Leveson, see TNA PROB 11/43/645. For the will of William Leveson (d.1621), see TNA PROB 11/137/600. In the will below, the testator bequeaths Dionyse a gold ring:

Item, I bequeath to my cousin, Dionyse Leveson in Lime Street, and to my cousin Butler by the stocks and to each of them a gold ring of 13s 4d apiece.

For Dionyse Bodley Leveson's coat of arms, which indicates that she was of the same family as the founder of the Bodleian Library, see Sutton, supra, and 'Nicholas Leveson' in Proceedings of the Evening Meetings of the London and Middlesex Archaeological Society, Session 1871, (London: J.B. Nichols and Sons, 1872), pp. 46-55 at p. 46 and 55:

Item, I will and bequeath to the building of the old work of Paul's four shillings;

Item, I will that if any part of my brother's testament, Mr Thomas Bodley, be found not fulfilled, as I trust to God shall not duly be proved by anybody, my executors to fulfil it in any wise above all things;

Item, I will the plate concerning Francis Bodley, my brother William's son, given unto him by my said brother vicar, Master Thomas Bodley, which remaineth in my Lady Askew's keeping, be given to him in due time according to my brother's testament;

And likewise the portions of all his sisters remaining in my hands that is not delivered already, to be delivered at their marriage day or when they come to th' age of eighteen years;

Item, I will all such plate of mine remaining in my sister Gresham's hands to be divided to the said Francis and his 3 sisters, Katherine, Alice and Grissell Bodley, equally to be divided amongst them, saving a dozen of spoons which I will and bequeath to my said sister Gresham;

Also I will and bequeath to Katherine Bodley my short scarlet gown, a salt of silver and parcel gilt, half a dozen spoons, and a nut of silver and gilt with a cover, besides the portion aforesaid of the plate aforesaid;

Item, I bequeath to Andrew Hubbard, sometime my servant, [f. 35v] a featherbed, a bolster, a mattress, a covering, a pair of sheets, a pair of blankets, a brass pot, a cupboard at Beckenham, two candlesticks, a gridiron, a spit and a frying pan;

Item, I bequeath to John Chamber my gown furred with black lamb which I do wear at Beckenham, my best doublet, and my short frock;

Item, I bequeath to every godchild at London and at Beckenham that beareth my name, to each of them three shillings four pence;

Item, I will that my executors shall provide to give to every house of the parish of Saint Stephen's and Saint Botolph's at Billingsgate 3 spice-cakes and 3 buns according to their discretion, and other of my friends and kinfolks more largelier and plentiful to give;

Item, I will that my waiting servant shall have ten(?) shillings besides his quarter's wages;

Item, I will that every household servant serving me at Beckenham to have every one of them five shillings besides their quarter's wages;

And my woman servant there five shillings in money and an old gown that lieth on her bed, and the tawny to be delivered to John Hall of Lewisham that laid them to me to pledge long ago;

Item, I give and bequeath to my Lady Askew for a token to pray for my soul a ring of gold that I have ready made, and my best horse, the best cow that I have, a quarter of wheat, and half a quarter of rye;

Item, I give and bequeath to my sister Gresham a ring which I do wear customable, and to my brother, her husband, a ring of gold of forty shillings;

Item, I give and bequeath to my sister Bodley at Billingsgate a hoop of gold which was my father's, and a horse;

Item, I give and bequeath to my cousin, Edmund Askew, and to Richard, his brother, and to each of them a gold ring of 20s apiece;

Item, I bequeath to Emme, Edmund Askew's daughter, and my god-daughter, twenty shillings;

Item, I bequeath to Christopher my godson, Richard Askew's son, twenty shillings;

Item, I bequeath to my cousin, Dionyse Leveson in Lime Street, and to my cousin Butler by the stocks and to each of them a gold ring of 13s 4d apiece;

Item, I bequeath to Sir Henry Cockes my furred frock and a pottle pot, a candlestick, and a chair next the door in my parsonage at London;

Item, I bequeath to Sir Richard my short gown;

Item, I bequeath to William Sherneforde a bed furnished and forty shillings in money when he is out of his years;

Item, I will and bequeath all the land and tenements that I have at Streatham or anywhere else to my cousin, Francis Bodley, and his heirs;

The residue of all my goods, stuff of household at London and Beckenham, chattels, debts, movable and unmovable unbequeathed, my debts and funerals paid, I give and bequeath to my brother's four children aforesaid;

And I ordain and make my executors of this my present testament and last will my cousin, Lancelot Haryson, grocer, to whom I give for his painstaking 2 kine, ten sheep, a horse, a bed furnished, and my black gown lined with damask, and my loving sister, Beatrice Bodley;

And I make my overseer of this my present testament and last will my cousin, John Marshe of Milk Street, and I give to him for his labour a purse of velvet with the rings of silver and gilt, and to my cousin, his wife, a ring of gold of twenty shillings;

In witness whereof I have subscribed this my present testament and last will with mine own hand and sealed with my seal, these being present. By me, James Stretell. By me, Harry Blower.
