

SUMMARY: The document below is the Prerogative Court of Canterbury copy of the nuncupative will, dated 7 June 1557 and proved 2 March 1560, of Edward Blount, whose grandson, John Combe (buried 12 July 1614), sold 107 acres of land to William Shakespeare of Stratford upon Avon and bequeathed him £5 in his will.

The testator was the third son of Thomas Blount of Kinlet (d.1524), who is said to have had twenty children by his wife, Anne or Agnes Crofts (d.1509), the daughter of Sir Richard Crofts of Herefordshire. See the pedigree of Blount in Collections for a History of Staffordshire, (London: Harrison and Sons, 1883), Vol. IV, pp. 81-2 at:

It appears from the foregoing pedigree that the testator was the uncle of Henry VIII's mistress, Elizabeth Blount. From the ODNB:

Blount [married names Tailboys, Fiennes de Clinton], Elizabeth (c.1500–1539x41), royal mistress, was the second daughter of John Blount of Kinlet (1484–1531) and his wife, Katherine (1483–1540), heir of Sir Hugh Peshall of Knightley and his wife, Isabel Stanley of Elford.

The testator married Joan Carne, sole daughter and heir of John Carne, son of Howel Carne of Cowbridge in South Wales by Sibil, daughter of William Kemeys of Newport, Monmouthshire. See Vaughan, H.F.J., 'Donington Church and Lordship', in Transactions of the Shropshire Archaeological and Natural History Society, (Shrewsbury: Adnitt and Naunton, 1883), Vol. VI, pp. 1-92 at pp. 60-3:

In his will the testator mentions three sons, Thomas, John and Gilbert, two unmarried daughters, Elizabeth and Katherine, and a married daughter, Anne Hopton, to whom he bequeaths the goods at his house in Warwick. According to Vaughan, supra, Anne Blount, married Edward Hopton, and was the mother of Thomas Hopton of Bitterley, Shropshire.

It appears that the testator was also the father of Joyce Blount, the first wife of John Combe (d.1588) of Old Stratford, who from 1567-1582 was steward of the manor of Stratford for Leicester's brother, Ambrose Dudley, (c.1530–1590), Earl of Warwick. See Lewis, B. Roland, The Shakespeare Documents, (Stanford: Stanford University Press, 1941), Vol. II, pp. 325-36.

By John Combe (d.1588), the testator's daughter, Joyce (nee Blount), had four sons and a daughter: Edward Combe (d.1597); Thomas Combe (d.1609), for whose will see TNA PROB 11/113/130; John Combe (buried 12 July 1614), who together with his uncle, William Combe (d.1611), sold 107 acres of land to William Shakespeare of Stratford upon Avon in 1602 (see SBTRO ER 27/1), and who bequeathed him £5 in his will (see TNA PROB 11/126/415); George Combe; and Elizabeth Combe.

The testator does not mention his daughter Joyce in the will below, and it may be that she had died by the time the testator's will was proved in 1560 (bequests to persons who had predeceased the testator were sometimes omitted in PCC copies of the original wills). On 27 August 1561, John Combe (d.1588) married a second wife, Rose Clopton (buried 14 October 1579). Rose Clopton was the sister of William Clopton (1537-1592), owner of New Place, later purchased by William Shakespeare of Stratford upon Avon. William Clopton's daughter, Joyce Clopton (1562-1637), was a Maid of Honour to Queen Elizabeth, and on 31 May 1580 married the soldier and courtier George Carew (1555-1629), later Earl of Totnes. See Lewis, infra, p. 326; the ODNB entry for George Carew; and Bellew, J.C.M., Shakespeare's Home at New Place, Stratford-Upon-Avon, (London: Virtue Brothers and Co., 1863), pp. 162-6, 366-9 at:

According to Adams, the testator was in the service of Leicester's father, John Dudley (1504–1553), Earl of Northumberland, while the testator's eldest son, Thomas Blount (d.1568) of Kidderminster, was Leicester's leading officer of household, and may have been Leicester's steward at Kenilworth. See the will of the testator's eldest son, Thomas Blount of Kidderminster, dated 28 November 1568 and proved 24 March 1569, TNA PROB 11/51/110, in which the testator leaves a bequest to 'my nephew, Thomas Combes', i.e. Thomas Combe (d.1609); and Adams, Simon, Leicester and the Court: Essays on Elizabethan Politics, (Manchester: Manchester University Press, 2002), p. 331 at:
